GivingTuesday Hits New High

Now in its eighth year, GivingTuesday has become a global event that celebrates the efforts of the world's nonprofit organizations and the generosity of individuals who support them.

The preliminary results for gifts for 2019 GivingTuesday indicate that charities raised an estimated $511 million online, up from $380 million on this day last year. This year, the GivingTuesday Data Collaborative, a group of more than 60 partners, also estimated offline giving using a new statistical model, bringing this year's total estimate to $1.97 billion. What an achievement!

Billed as a global day of giving created from the combination of the power of social media and collaboration, GivingTuesday is a simple concept that gives nonprofits a free digital toolbox of how tos and gives donors, literally, a world of choices. From a relatively modest start seven years ago (the campaign was announced just one month before kickoff in November 2012), GivingTuesday 2018 brought in 3.6 million gifts totaling $400-million, from donors in more than 150 countries. All online, all in 24 hours.

Take a look at previous giving, and see the tremendous growth that GivingTuesday has experienced. This year's total surpassed what was predicted!

You will see in a news item below that the awareness of GivingTuesday is growing as well.

Beyond the tweets and Instagramming, GivingTuesday represents something bigger: it is the symbolic start of the season of giving, these December weeks when donors make more gifts to more organizations than at any other time of the year. Some donors have a prepared list of charities that they faithfully support every year. Others may give more spontaneously, moved by a story or a heartfelt appeal. Some give to share their own good fortune, others have relatively little to share but give all the same to help someone else in need.

Scientists tell us that giving makes us happier, that altruistic behavior releases endorphins associated with pleasurable feelings. So skip the chocolate, or make one less trip to the mall (real world or virtual), and send the money to a nonprofit you admire. Let's keep the spirit of GivingTuesday going all month long - and into 2020!

Wishing you all the best of this season of giving.

Awareness of GivingTuesday Growing

A new survey finds that the popularity and awareness of GivingTuesday is growing!

Why America Gives 2019: How Current Events, Technology, and Seasonality Impact Donor Plans, found that 37% of respondents were aware of GivingTuesday, up 10% from 2018 - including 50% of Gen Z respondents (ages 18 to 22), 39% of millennials (ages 23 to 38), 38% of Gen Xers (ages 39 to 54), and 33% of boomers (ages 55 to 73).

Among those who had heard of GivingTuesday, 53% said they had donated to a GivingTuesday campaign in 2018. Gen X respondents (25%) were more likely to say they planned to participate in GivingTuesday this year than were Gen Zers (18%), millennials (17%), or boomers (17%).

The Big Ones

Gifts to Largest Nonprofits Increased 11.3%

According to The Chronicle of Philanthropy's annual study of giving to nonprofits, private support for the hundred largest nonprofits accounted for approximately 8.7% of all giving in 2018. However, the strong showing underscores the widening gap between those top charities and the rest of the sector. The study does not include individual gifts to donor-advised funds such as Fidelity Charitable. Had Fidelity Charitable been included in the study, it would have ranked as the largest charity in the country, having raised more than $9 billion - nearly triple the amount raised by United Ways ($3.01 billion).

The Chronicle notes that one reason large nonprofits are doing well is that they have focused their efforts on major donors - a group that has benefited handsomely as wealth inequality in the U.S. has hit record levels.

Also, the Chronicle reports that the share of Americans who claimed a charitable deduction on their tax returns in 2018 plunged to 8.5%, from 24% in 2017. COP, 11-8

Forbes Biggest Givers in 2018

Warren Buffett tops the Forbes list of U.S. philanthropists who gave the most to charity in the previous calendar year.

In partnership with SHOOK Research, Forbes examined contributions paid out by living philanthropists and their foundations. America's 50 biggest givers in 2018 contributed a total of $14.1 billion, up from $12.6 billion in 2017 and $12.2 billion in 2016.

The Top Ten

1. Warren Buffett ($3.4 billion)
2. Bill and Melinda Gates ($2.6 billion)
3. Michael R. Bloomberg ($767 million)
4. Walton family ($596 million)
5. George Soros ($585 million)
6. Mark Zuckerberg and Priscilla Chan ($410 million)
7. Hansjörg Wyss ($402 million)
8. Jim and Marilyn Simons ($397 million)
9. Pierre Omidyar ($392 million)
10. Gordon and Betty Moore ($298 million)
